Foreword

It is with great pleasure that I present the Vol. 11. No. 2 of the Sri Lanka Journal of Advanced Research Studies in Humanities and Social Sciences (SLJARS) to mark the continuation of the Academic tasks undertaken by the NCAS. With the belief that the ongoing dialogue within the realms of Humanities and Social Sciences is to be continued beneath the idealistic understanding of intellectual curiosity and critical examination, we present the continuation of our esteemed journal. The vibrant knowledge always dealing with resolving the complexities of human existence, culture, and society, especially in an era of technological advancements and involvements, to overcome the global challenges, the insights and perspectives offered by the humanities and social sciences have become more crucial than ever, as we highlighted in our previous volume.

In this edition, we have endeavored to include a wide array of research that reflects the interdisciplinary nature of these fields. The contributions span across disciplines such as anthropology, sociology, history, philosophy, political science, literature, and cultural studies, among others. This diversity not only highlights the interconnectedness of different areas of study but also demonstrates the multifaceted approaches required to address complex questions about humanity and society.

The National Center for Advanced Studies in Humanities and Social Sciences (NCAS) being the only Research Institute of Sri Lanka governed by the Universities Act No. 16 of 1978, is happy to thrive and embark novel studies in Humanities and Social Sciences under its broader objectives to enhance the capacities and the equilibrium of such studies. Thus, the Annual Research Journal of the NCAS aims to be a beacon for scholars, researchers, and practitioners who delve into these profound and diverse areas of inquiry. Established in 2005, the NCAS commenced its first Journal in 2007, and continues to publish every year in two (02) Parts, with the blind review by the local and overseas subject experts. We are happy to announce that the Sri Lanka Journal of Advanced Research Studies in Humanities and Social Sciences (SLJARS) has been recognized by the 'Sri Lanka Journals Online' since 2007.

It is important to note that each article of the journal represents a significant contribution to our understanding of the human condition, showcasing rigorous research, having unique and innovative methodologies with critical analyses. While some are so significant on exploring historical pathways, and cultural phenomena, some are pillars of examining contemporary social issues and policy impacts.

However, the depth and the breadth of topics covered here showcase the richness and diversity inherent in the humanities and social sciences.

A special note is endorsed with regard to the Vol. 11. No. 1 & 2, which was expected to be published in 2021. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the routine work and tasks were collapsed, and many of us joined on virtual platforms and accepted the virtual reality at its zenith. The research collaborations and field research are not exempted in the particular setting. The NCAS continued its tasks and performances at its best and obtained the research articles remotely from the scholars and researchers. However, the process was not that efficient due to certain other hindrances i.e. the Wi-Fi facilities and the economic crisis, yet we are happy to announce that now in 2023, we are ready to publish the Vol. 11. No. I & II after having a thorough review process. SLJARS is peer reviewed and follows double blind review process.

I extend my deepest gratitude to the authors, reviewers, and editorial team whose dedication and hard work have made this edition possible. Their commitment to scholarly excellence ensures that this journal continues to be a vital platform for intellectual exchange and discovery. I am confident that the insights and findings presented in these pages will inspire and inform future research, contributing to the ongoing dialogue that shapes our understanding of the world.
